

HOW to LOVE

Dear dorris,
how do I know whether I really love my boyfriend for who he is or because he was the only one who confessed his love and I felt lonely at the time?

-Lily Song

If we are able to choose who to be with...

then we can choose the one perfect person for us.

Yet we can keep wandering
the same ground

until it gets muddier and muddier...

and we are stuck.

Someone may help us out and we can trundle along with them but it is important to re-evaluate things

from our new-found stability, in case our new thing tumbles to somewhere

that isn't right for us.

From this new place we may see things that we didn't see before and we can leave whenever we like

and be on solid ground

but don't let yourself be distracted from happiness that was there all along.

